ALOE GELLY

濃縮蘆薈清涼膏 concentrate

Aloe vera is a plant that is grown in tropical and dry areas. It belongs to the Asphodelaceae (Liliaceae) family. Over the years, Aloe Vera has been highly praised by numerous medical professionals, and is often famously labeled as the “emergency medicine”. Aloe Vera can effectively cool the skin, providing anti-bacterial and anti-inflammatory protection, accelerating the recovery speed of skin burns, wounds and other skin problems.

Aloe Vera can be subdivided into more than 200 species, but only a few species can be used safely for both oral and external use. We chose to use Aloe Barbadensis due to its remarkable properties. Aloe Vera is deemed safe for consumption and it contains a very rich content of nutrients as well as aloe latex. It therefore has “first aid” characteristics at its highest efficacy.

Main Benefits:

- Rich in mucopolysaccharides, plant extracts and botanical nutrients that provide anti-inflammatory properties, repair dry/damaged skin quickly and help promote cell regeneration
- With its anti-inflammatory and anti-bacterial effect, it helps promote cell growth, wound healing and is suitable for acne, skin irritation, sunburn, burns, canker sores and even bleeding hemorrhoids
- Relieves tingling sensations after laser treatments, scrubs or after using AHA products
- Helps quicken nutrients absorption into skin cells, especially in Vitamin A, B & E
- Relieves the damages of diaper rash in the skin of babies
